Administrators Human; Believe in Students

Walking through the administrative and counseling offices one hears snatches of conversation from people at work.

They are members of Hale's administration, and their devotion to their work is expressed in phrases like these:

"It's 3:00 and I haven't eaten all day."

"It's not a written law but we are just sort of assuming it."

"The key is to get students involved."

"How about a compromise?"

"We'll see what we can do about it."

"O.K We'll do that and see how it works."

"Do you know 'Moon River'?"

The administration puts in time and effort to insure that every Hale student has a chance for an excellent education-one which meets HIS needs.

Every Teacher's a Steal. You Have a Chance to Swipe His Knowledge.

A Science Happening: Remember Spray Park!

A survival mission in Spray Park, atop the rugged peaks of Mount Rainier, was the focal point of a weekend for biology students. Students learned to adapt to nature and its challenges.

Due to the ever-changing knowledge of science, the department decided to experiment with different types of learning surroundings. Some are field trips, nature hikes and group or personal experiments. They give students a chance to progress at their own rate and fully understand their own work. Classes attempt to give new insight into many facets of the changing world.

Job Training Brightens Future

Some lucky person will buy a cabin built entirely by Hale students. Students in Constructional Technology have designed, built, and wired the cabin which will be sold.

Automobile Servicing gives the student a new opportunity to learn how to care for his car.

Buzzing from electrical machines can be heard clear down the hall from the Business Ed. resource center. The door opens to a fascinating array of new electrical calculators, Selectric typewriters, duplicators, and modern adding machines. Graphic Arts teaches the students how to use an offset press. Students can pursue individual interests.

Retailing students have their hands full taking care of the Cubby Hole. Selling candy, school supplies, and nic-nacs is their specialty. They learn to work a cash register, how to handle money, and take inventory.

L.A. Unfair to Seniors; Changes Benefit Youth.

"I wish I were young again," commented one senior referring to the drastic changes in the Language Arts department. "We don't get any benefits from the changes."

Tenth graders now select two six-week courses in speech, problem solving, reading or drama for the first half of a quarter. L.A. 10b is a twelve-week course concentrating on specific aspects of writing skills, including work with the mass media.

A variety of classes for juniors is also offered. By reading American literature, students gain insight into man's contemporary ideas and his relationship to the world. There are also courses like Man and the Individual which involves short stories and poetry, fantasy, writing basic skills, and non-fiction reading.

Rhythm, grace and freedom of movement are only a part of what makes modern dance a favorite with Hale's fair set.

And some of those bulging muscles you've seen on the boys in the halls were developed in carefully supervised weight training classes.

Whether it's shuffleboard, badminton, tennis, gymnastics, handball, or some of the more conventional team sports, Hale's fellows and gals have almost unlimited opportunity for fun, body conditioning and good fellowship in a P.E. program that knows no limits.

New Student Crafts Evolve in Changing Art Classes

Changing ideas in art involved students in crafts, a field undergoing rapid change. With the desire to make rather than buy practical, decorative items, the art department, headed by John Ringen, has accommodated this new trend.

Along with imagination and resourcefulness in utilizing materials, skill in basic techniques was the prime goal this year.

Fabric design, lost wax casting and advanced ceramics offered opportunities for students to express individuality as craftsmen.

The Bare Facts

Running naked through the halls . . . Executive Cabinet uncovered some new activities this year.

Concerned about the gap in racial, political and social areas, Executive Cabinet sponsored human relations films beginning in January. Shown one day each week, the films helped students gain sharper insights into themselves and society.

The student body contributed and delivered food and gifts to 15 needy families—another project originating in Exec. Cabinet.

As early as last summer the cabinet members were busy planning the sophomore orientation and exchanging ideas about projects for the year. Some projects have been revised; others failed to materialize. Having gone beyond the prescribed Executive Cabinet duties, the members helped to make Nathan Hale more interesting.

"We're now going to vote . . . wait a minute! What are we voting on?" Jan Skewes, not always organized, but always enthusiastic, led the Student Union in lively discussion and constructive actions.

Criticism and cynicism abounded in the first few sessions, but attitudes began to change as constructive measures were taken. The Registration Committee's proposal for a more effective registration procedure was adopted by the school Senate.

"Ask not what Student Union can do for you, but what you can do for Student Union."

Heritage—to the staff means many things. It's much more than words and pictures tossed together to fill space.

It's checking facts, writing, typing, crying, revising proofs, fighting, taking pictures, headaches, cropping, or laying out a page a dozen times until it says something special. A peek into room 217 at any time during the year, would have created curiosity in the minds of anyone not associated with the annual.

Release of Thought Into the Expression of Motion

A rainbow of leotards moving gracefully in rhythm to a lilting melody was a typical scene in a modern dance class this year. Modern dance—a free form of ballet, but less structured and more individual, gave girls a chance to express themselves freely. When Betsy Swanson assigned girls to make up their own dances, the subjects ranged from hypocrisy to cows, and that's when the originality of each girl emerged. Modern dance gave girls' imaginations, as well as their muscles, a workout.

Stretching and warmup exercises are a part of the daily routine.

With much determination and concentrated practice, the Concert Orchestra was able to perform more than the usual two concerts. All year long, Mr. Delaney encouraged the group to recognize their potential.

The sounds of Hale's '71-'72 Orchestra were heard throughout the city. Many Orchestra members were selected to participate in the All-City Orchestra. Those selected were Janet Perry, flute; Mike Burch, clarinet; Gail Musgrove, clarinet; Nick Moore, bass; Linnea Wren, violin; Dan Cornelison, violin; Marilyn Beasley, violin; Nancy Fiske, violin; Margaret Luke, violin; Kathy Davis, cello; Sue Hall, cello; Dean Rowe, cello; Linda Scott, violin; and Jens McMamama, French horn.

Small Band Makes It Big

With the help of Mike Delaney, the '55 biggies' managed to attract all age groups again this year.

According to 'Big M', all the effort and quality put out by the group makes up for the lack of numbers. "What I want in a band along with quality is sound, mucho sound. I want to be blasted off the podium!"

Trumpeters Bob Hilde and Kevin Sweet, flutist Jaime Young, bass player Stan Wright and clarinetist Gail Musgrove were selected to play in the all-city band.

This is serious business.

"And now, for your half-time pleasure, the Nathan Hale Marching Band under the direction of musical Mike Delaney, being led on the field by Drum Major Alan Finkelstein."

Twenty-one mixed voices and a few bass guitars united last spring with lots of enthusiasm, Mike Lynch, and a name: Folk Ensemble.

Since then, they have defined their goal: exploring pieces of literature and performing as many concerts as possible. An invitation to play at the University Christian Church began this year's schedule.

Twenty-One + Thirteen = Folk, Recorder Ensembles

The Percussion Ensemble reflects the contemporary side of Hale sounds.

A person must be someone special to belong to Recorder Ensemble. Thirteen people are. It takes a lot of drive to meet after school Mondays and Thursdays when most everyone else goes home.

Baroque and Renaissance selections dominate the repertoire of the soprano, alto, and tenor recorders. So far, classes have been their audiences, but their hope is to perform more extensive concerts outside of school.

The newest and hottest sounds came out of the stage band this year. This young group led by Frank Minear went to Bremerton to compete with the best bands in the state. Their lively performances at basketball games matched the excitement on the court.

Sophomore and juniors worked doggedly in the stage band so they might have that chance to play in the championship Jazz Ensemble.

"Ready? Heh. One-two-one-two-three ..." So Frank Minear, Nathan Hale Jazz Ensemble's fearless leader, began the practice session. "Show me some dynamics", he demanded, not being satisfied with the first few measures. "How many bars in a blues phrase? When you guys play a forte, don't just play a forte, give it some sound. Dee-ba-dee-ba-dee-ba-wap ...?"

The preparations for the Winter Jazz Concert and the Vancouver and Reno competition were strenuous and grinding. Still the Jazz Ensemble preserved Hale s nationwide reputation for jazz excellence.

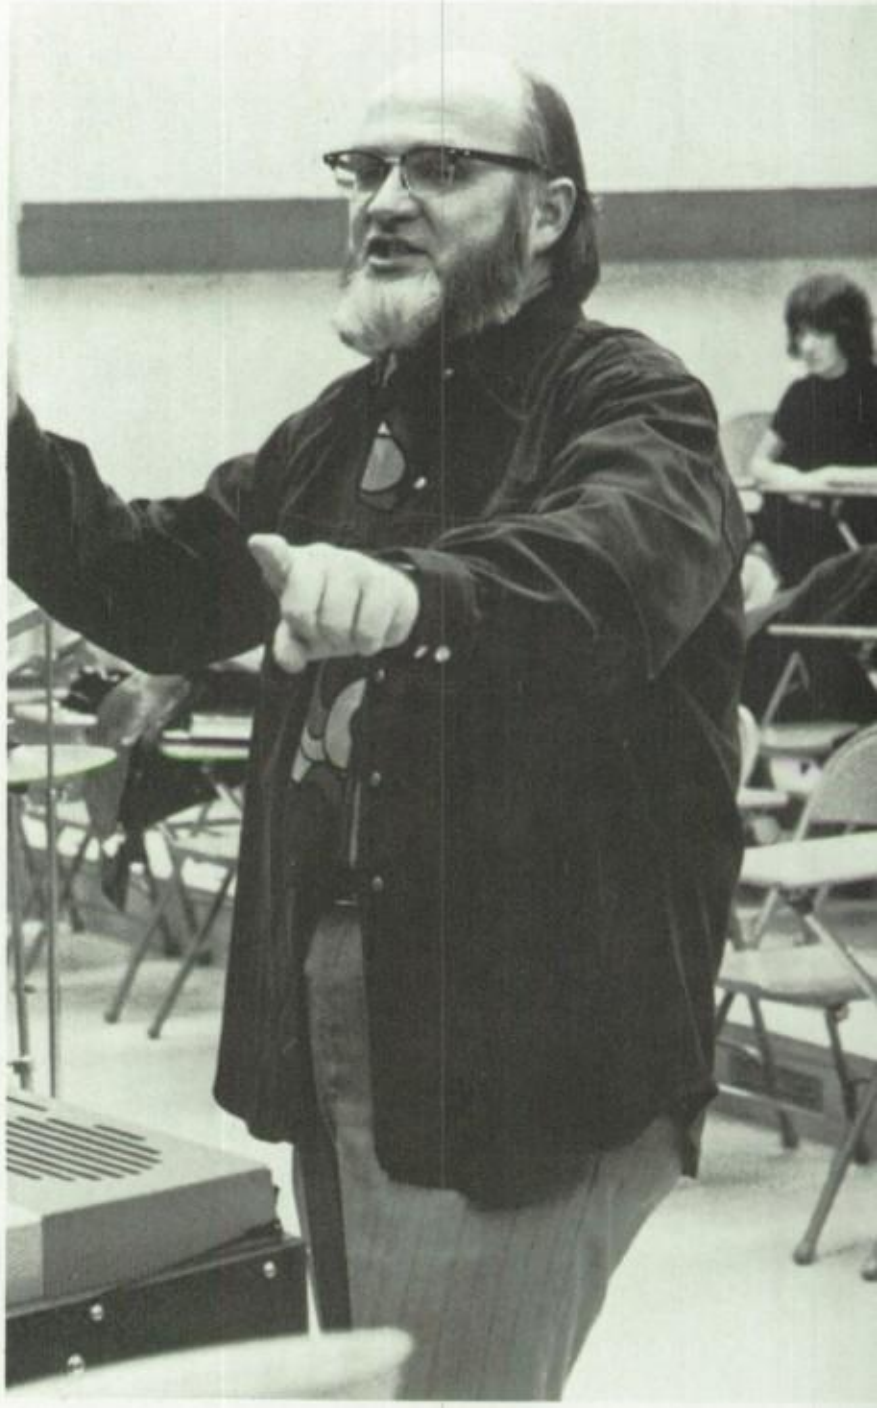
Is There a Doctor in the House?

Many of you may have thought singing was just flappin' your gums, but to the members of Squires, Hale's performing concert choir, it was more than that.

Squires' members were susceptible to a variety of diseases. One of the most common was the "Monday Morning Blahs". It was very hard to fake singing. A Squire had to be an actor as well as a singer. It took a lot of grit to be able to look as if you were bright-eyed and bushy-tailed when you dragged yourself out of your sick bed. Then there were those little last minute attacks. Stage fright was common but Squires were known to have been struck by appendicitis and to have had fainting spells ten minutes before a concert.

The director, Robert Cathey, was afflicted with another disease-"blabitis"-which is an aversion to talking during choir practice. The statement-"What are you trying to do-see who can make me blow up first?!" is symptomatic of sufferers of this disease.

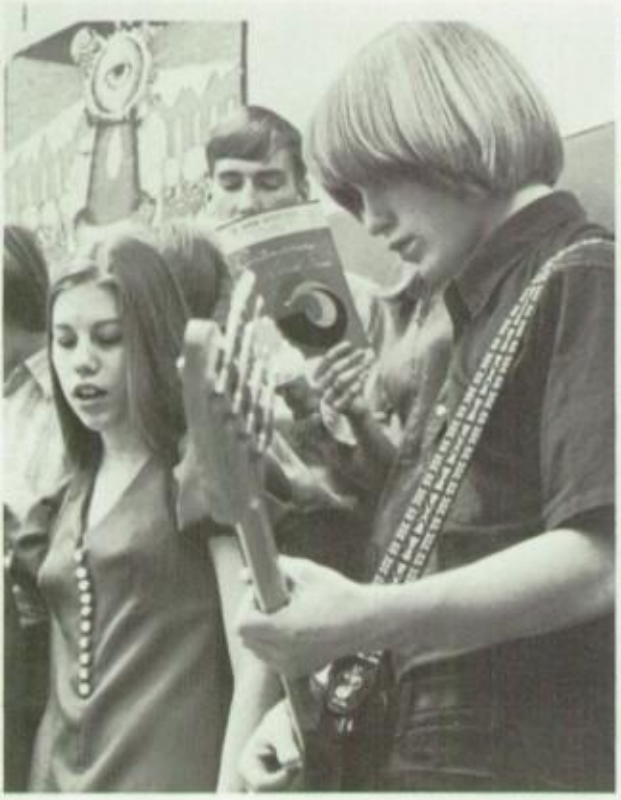
All these things helped make up a choir with real talent and enthusiasm.



"I want you—for Squires!"

The Incurable Monday Morning Blahs

Well, some incredible things happened this year, and some of them were very beautiful. You know that one of them was really getting to know you, & the wonderful person you are. I shall always cherish what we have, & what I have learned from you, between Seattle & Reno!
I wish that you might find only happiness within your time at Hale, and in your life afterwards.
I think you know how I feel.
With deep love and respect, Susie



Evie Chamberlain and Bob Hughes follow the music.

Swing Choir was more than just a group of talented singers-it was one big happy family. This group of eighteen singers, three intrumentalists, and one director, gave outstanding performances for many well known clubs and groups. Rhododendron Society, the Kiwanis Club, a Logger's convention at the Olympic Hotel and Mayor Uhlman's Christmas Ship were just a few of the many places they performed. With Robert Cathey's held and all the group's effort, Swing Choir made it down to Reno to compete in the All-West Music Contest.

Hale musicians relaxed in their leisure time between commitments with birthday parties, a roller skating party and various other holiday and unholiday celebrations. Which just goes to show that the "family" that plays together, stays together.

One big happy family.

The Lynch Mob

With a twang of the guitar and a toot of the flute, Michael Lynch gave Girls' Glee a contemporary sound at the Christmas Concert when he utilized some of the instrumental talent in the group. The girls' melodic warbling and new sound won applause at all their performances.

The class wasn't just whistlin' Dixie either. Singing first thing in the morning isn't the easiest thing to do (though it gets the day going better than some classes), and standing on risers for 15 minutes is no small task (especially when your foot itches). Despite all these hardships, the girls came through with some good sounds.

The driving force behind this year's effort to make Hale the cavity capital of the world was the Cubby Hole. An antidote has been discovered. Its popular name is FEAST, an abbreviation for its scientific name—Food Education and Service Training. It does just what its name says—trains students for jobs outside of high school in food services, with a variety of courses in math, L.A., and home economics.

These 45 students bounded ahead in the fight against the deadly disease when they catered such events as the Father-Daughter Banquet, Homecoming Dinner and the faculty restaurant.

Raiders Smash Ingraham for First Metro Title

The greatest football team ever at Hale finished the season in exciting style. The Raiders soundly defeated arch-rival Ingraham Rams for the Metro title. It was the first gridiron victory against Ingraham in Raider history. The 12-0 win also avenged an early season loss to the Rams. In the Turkey Day game the Raiders again came on strong to upend the Kent-Meridian Royals, 14-7.

The Raiders were rated as the fourth best team in the state.

A key factor in the team's success story was spirit. It was always present. It was at every practice, in the locker room, and on the field. The coaching staff were more than just the brains behind the brawn. They developed the spirit and character of the team.

The season itself was always exciting. The Raiders were a prime factor in the North's victroy over the South in the Jamboree. They followed this by winning their first four games. Then the Raiders suffered their only loss. The team hurt itself with six fumbles in the 22-0 loss to Ingraham. They regrouped and romped to victories over Shoreline and Ballard. Hale beat the South's number one team, Queen Anne, to earn the right to play for the Metro title.

Every Hale starter was voted to have deserved at least an All-Metro honorable mention. Voted to the All-Metro Offensive team were quarterback Marc Mauze, tackle Bill West, and junior halfback Dick Walker. Honored on the Defensive team were linebacker Ron Reeves, safety Brent Heath, and guard Ken Allred. Reeves also received the Hall of Fame scholar-athlete award for outstanding lineman. Head coach Chuck Tarbox was honored as co-coach of the year in the Metro league. He was also nominated for Seattle's "man of the year" award in sports.

'A Team Without A Star'—Chuck Tarbox

It is written that the difference between a champion and a runnerup is that a champion can come from behind to win. The Raiders illustrated this in the 1971 playoffs. In the 21-6 victory over Queen Anne, the Raiders turned the game around. The offense, led by Dick Walker's 210 yards rushing, came alive to score three touchdowns, and the defense completely stopped the record-breaking Grizzly passing attack.

In the Metro championship game, the Raiders entered with the memory of an early season 22-0 loss to Ingraham. In this game it was different. The defense never let the Rams past their own 42 yard line. Hale held the Rams to 76 yards rushing and none in the air while the Raiders intercepted three Ram aerials. The offense was patient and scored on a beautiful 46 yard pass from Marc Mauze to Mark Honey with no time remaining in the first half. A touchdown in the fourth quarter iced the 12-0 victory.

In the Turkey Day game the Raiders trailed Kent-Meridian most of the first half, 7-0. Once again Mauze struck as he passed 22 yards to Brian Wood with the first half clock running out. The second half was Hale's. The defense held Kent-Meridian to only four yards total offense. Joe Hoffman scored the winning touchdown in the 3rd quarter. The game was far more lopsided than the 14-7 score indicated, according to game statistics.

Halfback Dick Walker (21) sweeps around end against Kent-Meridian. Dick was one o the most exciting runners in the Metro league.

Fullback Joe Hoffmann breaks through an opposing defense for a long gain. Joe was Hale's leading ball carrier.

In their last game of the year the Junior Varsity lost their bid to become Hale's first undefeated football team. Despite this loss they won the North division JV title. Like the varsity, every victory was a team effort. Quarterback Rick Craig directed a versatile offense which scored more than 50 points in one game. The defense was also strong and it scored 23 points by itself. Several juniors started for the varsity on defense. Dave Currie deserved special mention for the effort and personal care he put into his coaching.

The sophomores finished second in the North. Coach Cliff Allen did an exceptional job of coaching. He was the major reason for the success of the varsity. The offense featured a strong running attack headed by John Hoffmann. Darrel Leitzke led a determined defense which registered two shutouts. The combined totals of Hale's three football teams was 17-3-2. This was the most successful football record in the Metro league.

Raider Runners Take Third Straight Crown

The best cross-country team in Hale history won an unprecedented third straight Metro championship in the fall.

Harold Benny placed 13th in the State meet, while the other runners ran below par for a third place team finish.

Raiders Go to War

Spikes, nets, rallies and setups can make any sport sound like a battle field. In a way it is. Hale's girls' volleyball team didn't exactly win all their battles, but they did make progress. Coming close to capturing Bunker Hill wasn't really on the agenda, just a lot of fun trying.

The season wasn't exactly what was anticipated, with two wins and ten losses, but Hale is full of surprises.

The first conquest was over Ballard. Scores were 17-15 and 15-13. After another loss, Hale made a comeback when they played Shorecrest. With hard work, Hale triumphed 17-15 and 15-7 for their second and last win.

Although Raider gals didn't quite make it to the playoffs, it was still a season of great fun and experience.

With next year's training at boot camp, there should be quite a few advances toward the title.

The 1971-72 Nathan Hale basketball team has to be remembered as the team with the never-say-die attitude. Despite several key injuries, the Raiders won their second consecutive North Division title. Under first year head coach Gary Case, the team displayed the great self-control that marks a champion. This was shown in an 80-73 win over Shorecrest that lasted five overtimes a metro record.

Just before the Metro championship game, the Raiders suffered the loss of their second leading scorer, Jim Ingram. Despite this heartbreaking loss, the Raiders kept close to the taller Quakers throughout the game before finally losing 53-47. John Brock led the Raider attack with 22 points.

In the state tournament, Hale lost to the hot shooting Everett Seagulls 59-57, despite John Brock's 30 points. In the consolation game, the Raiders beat Mountlake Terrace 64-54. Joe Runte led the scoring attack with 26 points.

Early in the season, the feminine but mighty Raiders stepped onto the courts. They bounced out after winning four of six games. This winter Hale's soccer team was "fit to be tied" as the saying goes. The team finished with no wins, three ties and three losses to tie for the North Division cellar.

Wrestlers Lie Down on Job

Dale Newhart used evasive tactics against a Rainier Beach opponent.

An exciting 27-26 win over Shorecrest highlighted a great year for the Nathan Hale wrestling team. The win marked only the second time a city school had beaten a school from the Shoreline District. The win enabled the Raiders to finish 4th in the regular season standings.

In the Metro Championship tournament, the Raiders finished 3rd, behind Ballard and Lincoln. The team was led by Bob Comeau and Paul West. Both were champions in their weight division. Other top finishers in their weight divisions were Chuck Caley, 2nd; Torry Drysdale, 3rd; Steve Marlow, 4th; Mike Ruhl, 4th; Tim Kendall, 4th; Rich Heussy, 5th; John Dickey, 5th; and Jerry Collver, 7th.

Mr. Krall, It was really cool being in your A Jpica class during 4th Quarter. Wish I was going to this school again next year. Have a good summer. Bob Kell

Girls' Gymnastics began short on experience this year, placing third in all meets except one. Hale more than made up the deficiency with five of the team members qualifying for the regional meet. Janis Rasmussen, Terri Siefner and Debbie Schoener qualified on the uneven parallel bars. Terri Cherufole and Debbie Schoener made finals in tumbling, while Ruth Chamness qualified for the vault box.

Floor exercises, the balance beam and the trampoline were also competitive events this season. The team, comprised mostly of sophomores and juniors, proved hard work can make up for lack of experience.

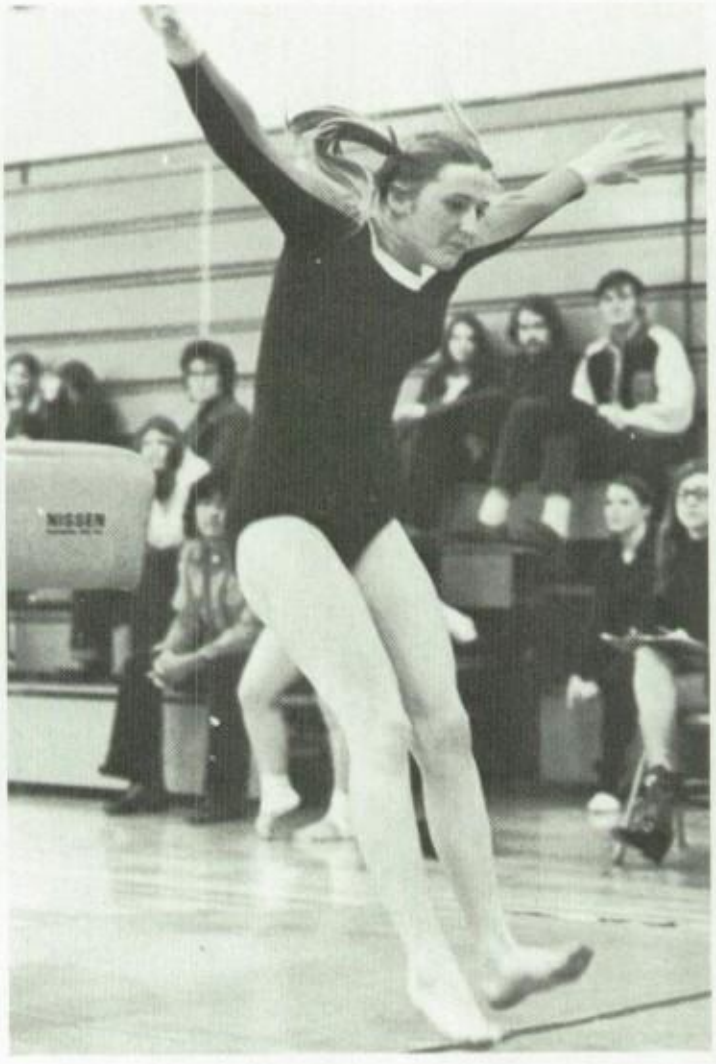
Ruth Chamness wins vaulting event hands down.



Janis Rasmussen executes a perfect two-point landing.

Debbie Schoener twinkles her toes during her tumbling routine.

Defending state champion, Dave Jackson, demonstrates will power.

Thank you for all the knolege and personal experiences you shared us with hope to see you around and well have to get together and rap again.
Be good.
Dave Gunby Sr

Led by Dave Jackson, the Nathan Hale gymnastics team had the highest score in the state midway through the season. Other top gymnasts are Leotis Bush, Otto Waniczek, and Carl Heussy. Coach Bob Julin is confident the Raiders can match the state title they won in 1970.

Tennis Guys Take a Swing at Metro

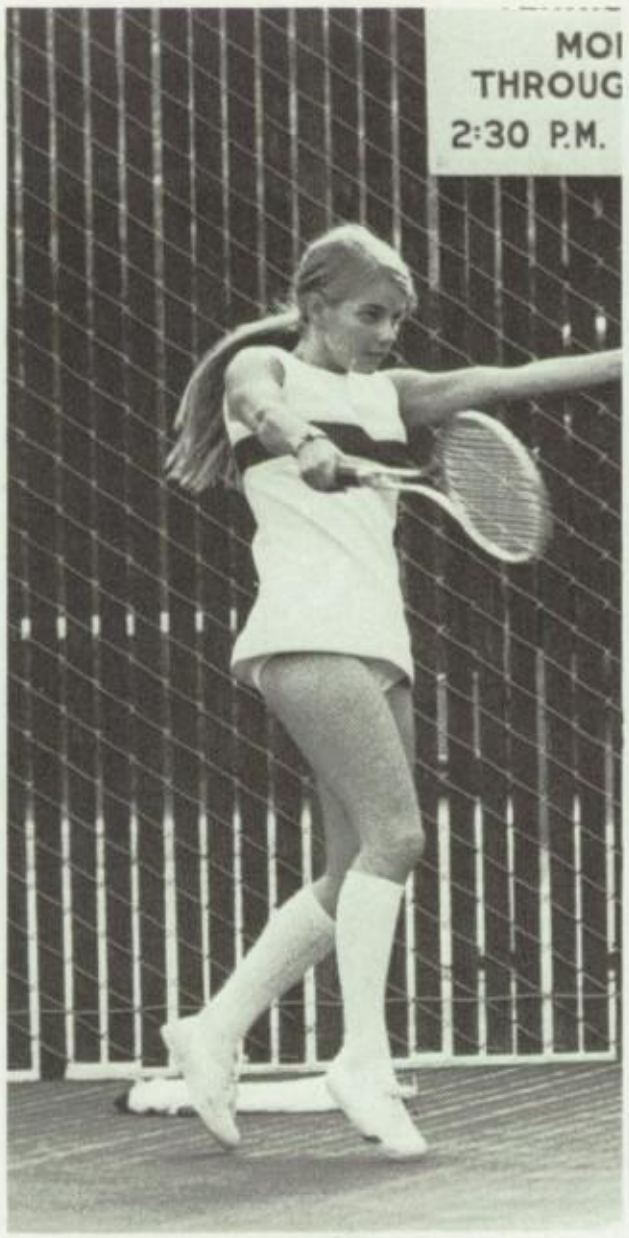
Ted Turner leans into a high, hard one.

Jan Frederick delivers a forehand slam.



Lisa Sowder shows superb backhand form.

Tennis Girls Raise a Racket

Fall tennis for girls included everyone who wanted to take part. Absent from this year's 45 participant turnout was the feeling that only advanced players should represent Hale. Team workouts, coached by Betsy Swanson and Rick Hafner, helped players refine their net skills.

The Raiders fared well in Metro doubles and singles championships. Team attitude was evidenced by the placing of three double teams from Hale in the semi-finals. The team of Lisa Sowder-Sue Phillips placed in the finals. Hale was represented by Leanne Harmon and Lisa Sowder in the semi-finals singles action. Lisa placed fourth in Metro.

Golfers on a Par Course

Led by defending Metro champion Joe Runte, the Raider golfers embarked on a journey to their best season ever. With more than 20 golfers turning out, optimism ran high. Doug Spring, Bob Roe, and Kirk Moratti were other top golfers. The Hale golf team seemed certain to be a real title contender.

Kirk Moratti lofts a soft shot onto the green.

Defending Metro champion Joe Runte glares over yonder.

Doug Spring does his own swinging thing.

Girls Keep Steady Pace Toward First Place

Leanne Harmon, Laurie McCallum, Carol Donnell and Terri Tyo jump over hurdles in high spirits.

Terri Tyo heaves a heavy 'Ho' as she lets the shot go.

Starting in their first meet, with the wind blowing in their faces and their knees knocking at 50 m.p.h., didn't stop the girls' track team from walking away a winner. Hale's 'go get em' spirit led them to a victory over Ingraham, 60-38. Shoreline and Roosevelt proved to be the Raiders' arch-rivals and true contenders, but with 18 strong and willing girls led by three returning state champions, the Metro title was really at stake.

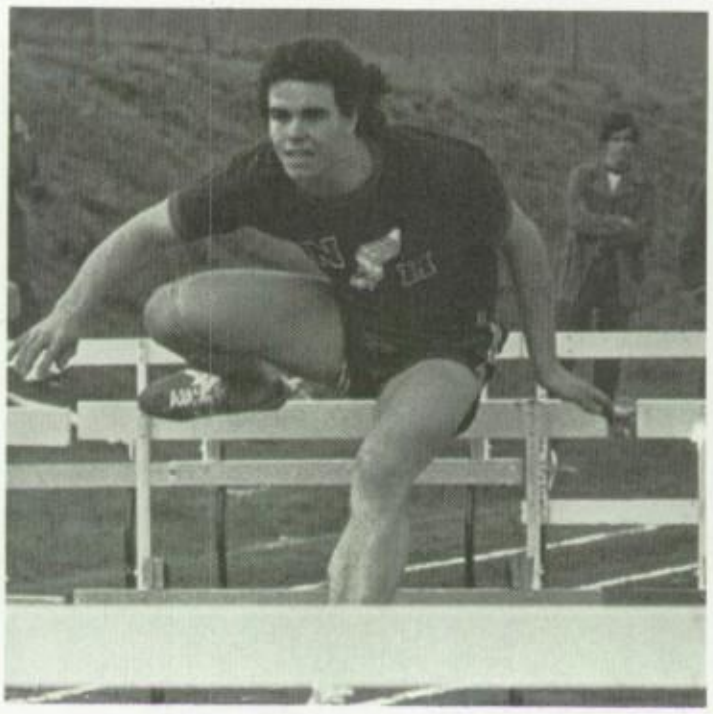
Souls and Spikes Downtrod Arch-Rivals

Defending state two mile champion Jim Campbell blazes through eight laps.

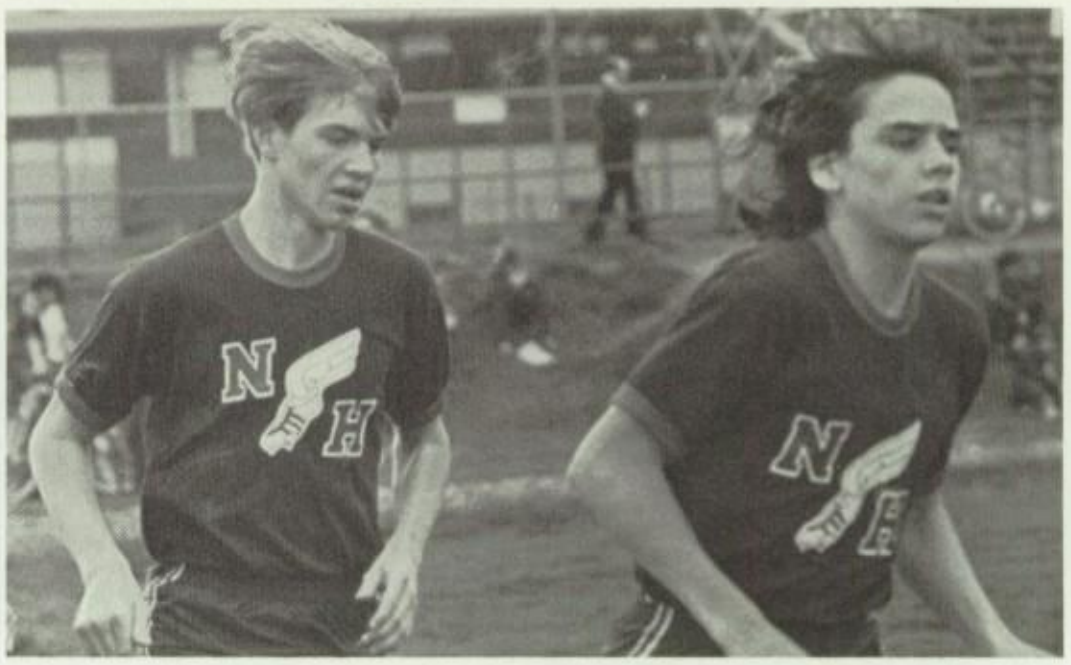


Defending Metro champion Hal Bursett clears a high hurdle on his way to victory.

Cleveland Walker breasts the tape for first in the 100 yard dash.

Mike Anderson and Jean Fankhauser race to the finish in the 880 yard run.

Sophomore Steve Armstrong "flops" over the high jump bar.



Peter Ostbye and Dean Madison pick up the pace in the mile run.

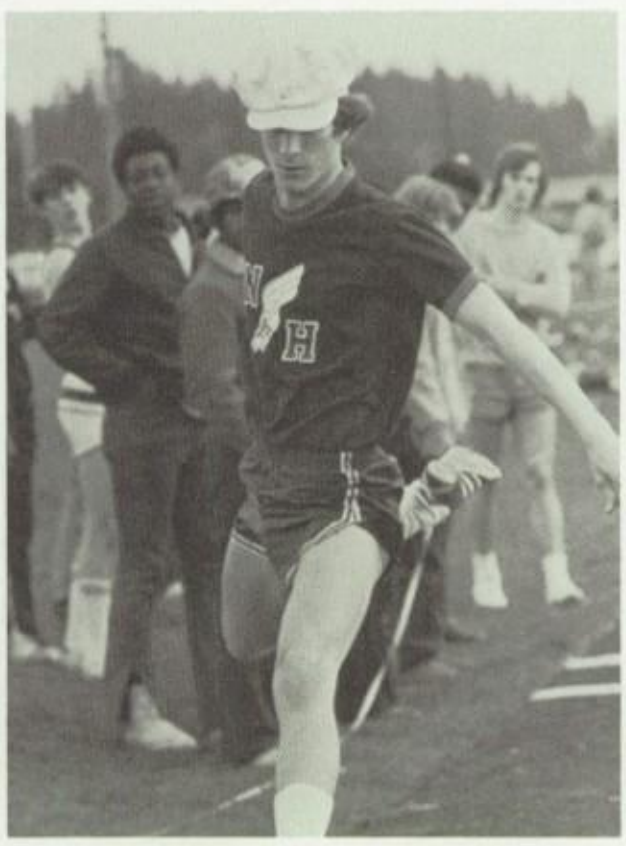
Roland Beaver gives 100 per cent in the shot put.

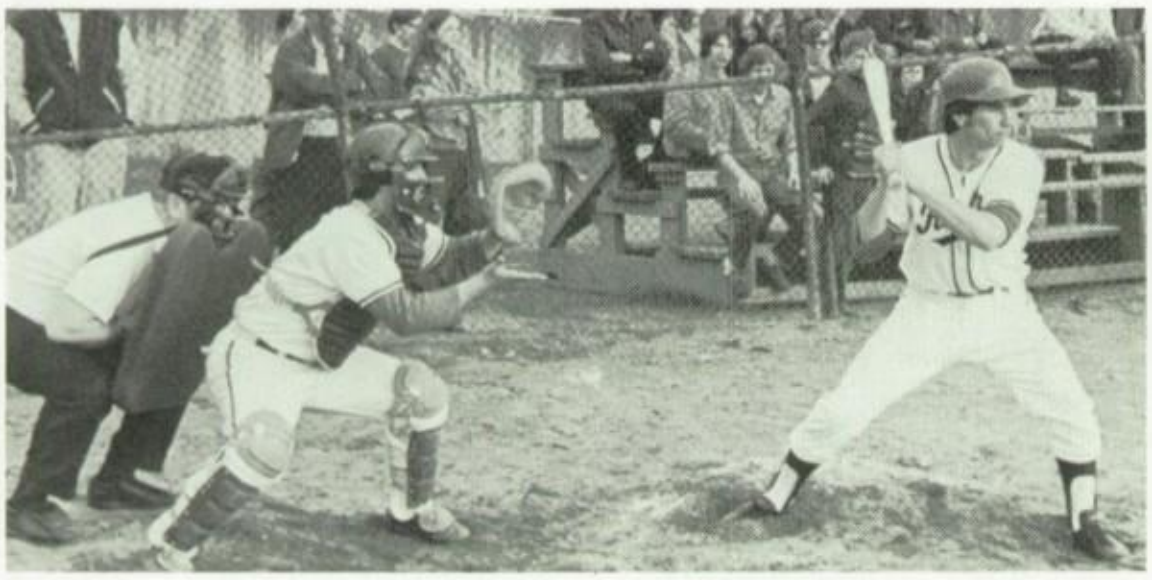


Jeff Krewson stretches for extra distance in the triple jump.

Can you jump over your best friend's head when he's standing up? Can you run faster than your friend's mini-bike for a mile or two? Could you throw a twelve pound grapefruit 47 feet? Could you out-sprint your dog or out-jump your kangaroo?

If you can answer yes to any of these questions, you were probably a member of Hale's defending Metro championship track team of '72. With a bumper crop of good talent and a lot of hard work, the team looked like a contender for a repeat Metro win in early spring.

Hale Slides Head First into Metro Crown Race

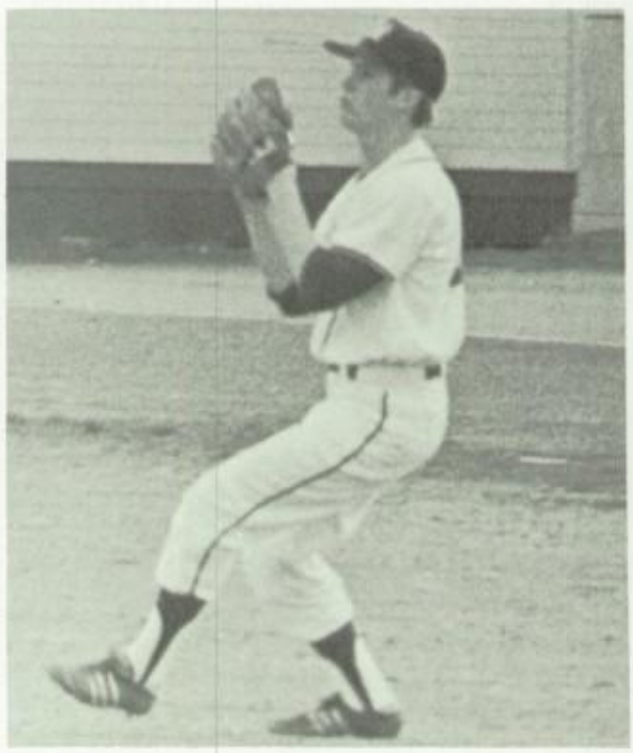


Tom Phillips sets before the swing.

"Lets hear some chatter out there," says Coach Lundberg.

Brent Heath connects for a hit.

Warren Mahr looks for extra bases.



Brian Wood brings in a fly ball.

Ace pitcher Jerry Hopkins sends curve to a Beaver.

Might Casey Sander, a fearsome sight to behold.

With a power packed lineup of batters and a good pitching staff, Hale's baseball squad honorably defended their Metro crown of last year.

Ron Reeves, Brent Heath, and several outstanding seniors provided leadership; and juniors Casey Sander and Jerry Hopkins gave the team added punch.

Powerful Ron Reeves leans into a home run.

Mike Williams expresses true grit.

Many Are Called; Few Make It

This winter many of Hale's hearty runners set out to become members of the 500 Mile Club. In a winter marked with weather extremes, only three of all who began finished the trek.

The annual Intramural Track meet was held this winter with a good turnout. Events were run weekly, giving track aspirants a "sneak preview" of the coming season.

Tennis appeared on the intramural scene for the first time with the 100 Set Club. More than 25 players participated.

Jay Johnson, Steve Ringo, and "Dandy" Donn Radosevich add a few steps to their quest for 500 miles.

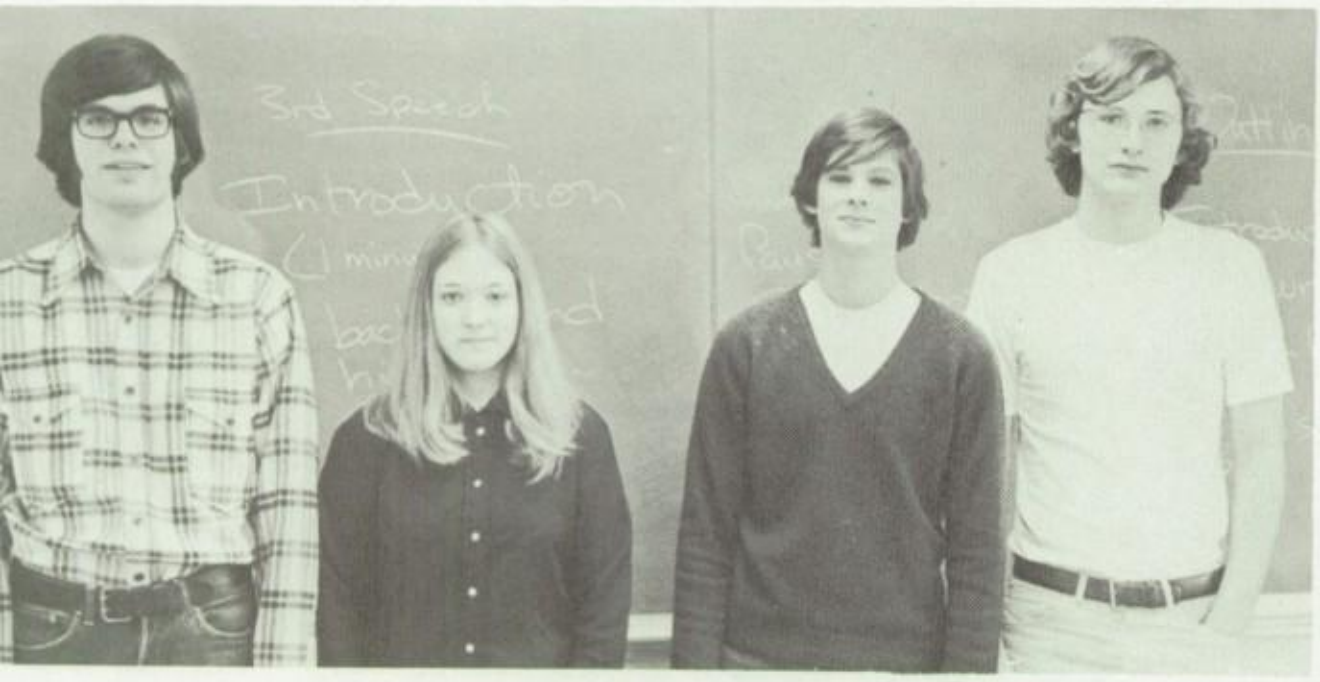
Mark Pierson awaits a return during competition in the 100 set club.

Jeff Wolfenstine prepares to give a backhand slam on the way to his 100th set.

Steve Armstrong, Bill Landon, and Burton March drive for the finish in the 60 yard dash.

Silence reigns for a moment as the debate team agrees to pose for a picture.

Debators Sharpen Tongues for War With Words



Varsity debators: Dave Kleitsch, Carolyn Rogers, Clark Kimerer, Craig Bartlett

ark Kimerer is Hale's top "smart outh".

"After finishing the charge, they moved in for the kill, striking swiftly with vigor . . ."

Sound like dialogue from a war story? Perhaps that's the best way to describe Hale's winning debate team. Even without actual physical labor, our "fast talkers" were highly successful in undoing their opponents in battle.

Barbara Bloom, head coach, brought the team together with a good turnout of talent.

Youth and Knowledge

Everything has been thought of before—but the hard thing is to think of it again.

You cannot have youth, and the knowledge of it at the same time . . . For youth is too busy living to know . . . And knowledge is too busy seeking itself, to ever stand still.

Bob Ireland-Bulletin Board Chairman

Caught in a less serious moment are Ron Reeves, Cynthia Ito and Mark Honey; Commencement Co-Chairmen.

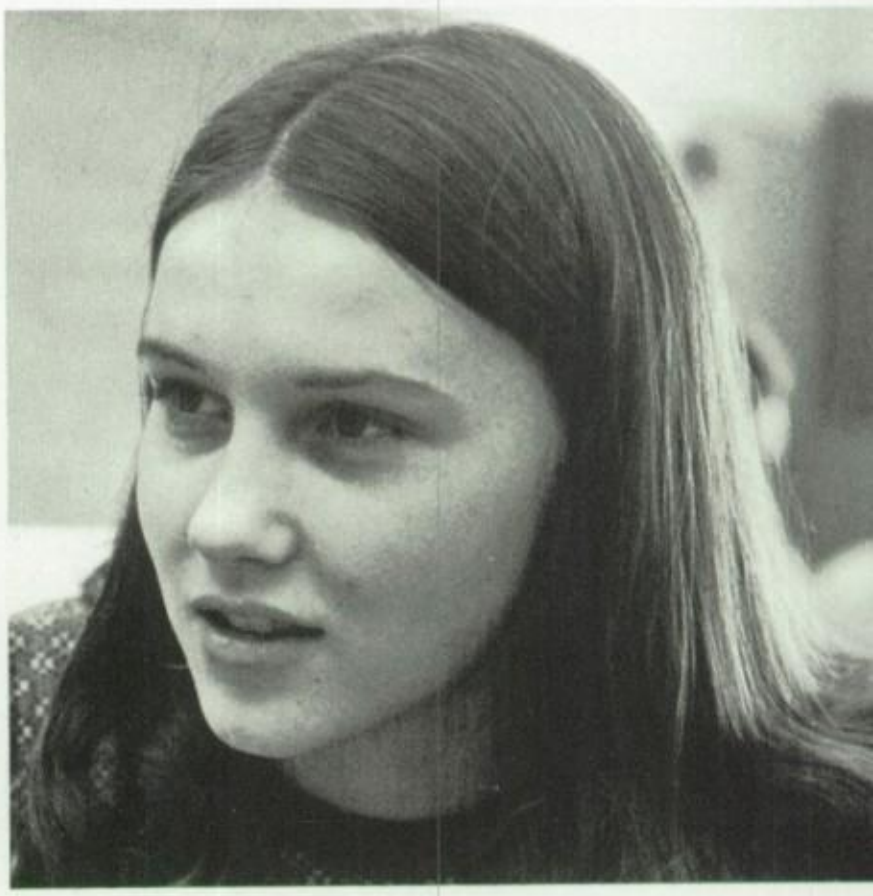
Ronda Eichenberger-Announcements Chairman and Mr. Smith-Adviser



Debbie Kellogg-Vice-president

Seniors Stomp the Hale Out of '72

President Kevin Healy actively participates in group discussion.

Many zesty affairs for the class of '72 originated with the Senior Cabinet. Halls were decorated, pranks were carried out, a new location for the prom was decided upon, and when Publicity wasn't falling off ladders, they let the school know about senior events and outstanding people.

Commencement, Senior Prom and the Senior Breakfast required long-range planning in the fall. It may have looked like the Senior Class was sleeping but they came to life in the winter. Starting with popcorn sales and powder-puff soccer, they proceeded to put on some really "Whoopee!" happenings.

Robin Schroeder-Cap and Gown Chairman, Kim Allen-Senior Prom Chairman.

Publicity committee supports Zoe Niebrugge, chairman.

Write Your Own Ticket To Tomorrow

Starting out, beginning, striving toward a goal. Pushing, working, rushing forward, molding yourself to fit the world and the world to fit you. Through criticism, remorse, trial and error, you learn. Prepare yourself. The world is big and full of problems and challenges. Keep pushing, thrusting forward. Don't give up, for the future is in your hands.

CAN REACH OUT EFFECTIVELY

TO HELP OTHERS.

TO BE ALIVE IS TO BE AWARE,
AWARE OF GREEN
FOLLOWING THE RAIN
OF VELVET PEACHES IN SUMMER,
OF A PAIR OF SHADOWS FALLING
GENTLY AS YOU WALK IN SILENCE.
BUT EARLIEST OF ALL MUST COME THE
AWARENESS OF OTHER PEOPLE
IN YOUR WORLD...
OF HOW THEY FEEL
WHAT THEY LOVE, AND HATE,

Mr. Kroll -

Its been 3 years since I first had you as a sophomore in World History. The effect of our meeting on my life has been incredible. You really mixed me up in that class. I had never been so confused, so dazed. And all because you made me think. Out of the confusion came a philosophy for life for me. I have this to thank you for — and so much more. You've honestly been the most important and influential person in my life. But most of all, Mr. Kroll, thanks for being an understanding friend.

Peace.

Steve W.

It is the end of my high-school career. I'm closing the book, yet opening another. June 22 I enter the army. I only hope that while I'm there and after I get out, I can find half of the ability to think that you possess. During the next year I want to read and digest the list of books that you've given me. My desire is that they help me as much as they have noticeably helped you. Thanks very much for everything — and being yourself. I want to reach for life — you may have helped...

Mark B.

Mr. Kroll:
I'd like to say that your speaking technique is one of the most effective, and the most interesting that I've ever listened to. The small amount of time I spent in your presence - affected - me, I hope for the better.

Insh'allah
Debra Sanderson

It was so long ago when you were calling attendance and trying to make the girls blush. I've had so many different feelings about you and your teachings and I've always thought you are a person who has stayed alive and living. Luck and love

Sue Phillips

Sure was a gas being in your Africa class. I had a lot of fun. Keep cool this summer and have a good time.

Jim Burdack

Mr. Kroll,

You certainly guided me well this year. I don't know where I went, but I was well directed. I'll see you in guidance next year, and, if you'll give me a full credit, I'll be your T.A. winter quarter (or spring if that would be better). Aren't you lucky!

Patti

Mr. Knoll,

When I first had you for World Hist. III sophomore year I used to refer to you as my way-out History teacher. Pretty funny huh? I always did it in love though, I want you to know that. I was the one who was out - out of it that is. I was a status quo Christian, satisfied with things the way I had always seen them. But you and many other people helped me to see the real world. Things like causes & symptoms conflicts and the reasons that we are in conflict and many things about people which I had never given a thot to. I have done a lot of thinking and changing in the past 3 years. I've become a real radical in some areas. (especially as a Christian)

I love you like I love my father. I really respect care and often disagree with you. Same as at home. I really like to disagree sometimes. Like a poster in the front of your class says, "when we all think alike, no one thinks very much." Thank you for encouraging me to think by sharing your thoughts and feelings with me.

I know that I have an unpopular attitude and I used to say that Jesus wasn't the Way for everyone, but that is what I really believe. There is only One Way. I believe that too firmly, even under opposition to back down from my stand about Jesus. He was a courageous, sensitive, wise and loving man. He could love & accept people unconditionally. That is what I need (and we all need) to know. Unconditional love. Gods love. I know you are not as happy as you appear. Often you wear a mask of joy to hide what you really feel. I don't mean to call you a hypocrite at all, but if you were to show the lack of fulfillment in your life that would be an admission that your philosophy of life didn't stand up under the test. To admit you are wrong, honestly to yourself is the hardest thing in the world to do except maybe believing it's the truth. If your life style is unsatisfactory, the door is always open for an about face. It's not that I don't love you the way you are. I do. I really do. But I love you so much I want the highest good for you. and so does Jesus. He is a wonderful guy to have as a best friend. I hope some day you will get to know Him in a really full, good way.

Mr. Kroll -
You're a great teacher and I do wish you'd done a little more, but then cadettes have to learn too. I know you'll never change - that's cool - ~~Okay~~ Experience is a good teacher —

the End

Mr. Kroll,
Thank-you for the wonderful experience of Africa. You're a great teacher and very considerate of others. I shall never forget how much you helped me when my trouble were too heavy for me to bear alone. I hope that someday I will be as understanding and thoughtful as you. Don't change. OK!

P.S. I'll never forget your smile either.

Mr. A.C. Kroll,
It has been really great having you as a teacher and friend these past 3 years. I learned a lot from you, not only in education but about life as well. Thank-you

Mr. Kroll,

Sorry to say good-bye, but I must. Let us hope that this will not be forever. Perhaps I'll come over to visit you sometime, we'll sit and talk, and maybe I can work my way into your head once more. Do continue to have a good time, you seem to have a talent for it. This talent is a rare gift to be treasured & preserved. At any rate I may see you in future, but if not, remember me as I'll remember you. If you ever need to let off some steam, you know where I am!
